He also assisted in setting up the library and a youth center in Sai Kung and was involved in the establishment of the local sub-team of the Auxiliary Medical Service. During the influx of the Vietnamese refugees into Hong Kong, Mr MAK led his team members to solve their medical problems. Upon his retirement, Mr MAK has fully devoted himself to the promotion of continuing education and life-long learning of the elderly such as the 'Opportunities for the Elderly Project'. Mr MAK was also invited to serve on the committees by more than 10 government departments.
